

Abstract of the Disclosure

A handheld stripper includes a handheld housing having a chamber configured to hold a volume of pressurized combustible gas. Combustion of the gas occurs at an output nozzle. A filter is disposed between the output nozzle and fiber and is configured to radiate heat in the direction of the fiber, while preventing a combustion flame from contacting the fiber.